INSULL TO START BACK TO CHICAGO NEXT WEEK

GUNNERS GUARD CITY BUILDING IN MINNEAPOLIS

Rumor of Bomb Plot Is Reason for Maintaining Guard

Minneapolis, April 7.—(AP)—Police machine gunners, fearing a bomb plot, stood guard today at City Hall, which was stormed yesterday by a raging mob of 6,000 unemployed and sympathizers. Riot squads had watched all night, warned by Chief Michael Johannes that he had received a tip that "25 men armed with revolvers are coming up here" and that the City Hall might be bombed.

The city council voted to recommend the demands of the rioting mob, including continuance of the CWA and increased relief allowances.

Police, supported by masked machine guns which they did not call into use, beat back the rioters with clubs and gas bombs, but not before a dozen of the officers were injured. The mob, hurling paving blocks, coal, bottles and scrap iron, even picked up unexploded gas bombs and tossed them back at the police.

Score Injured

About 20 persons were injured in all. Thirty were arrested, including 23 members of a committee which entered the combination city hall courthouse to lay the demands before the council.

The trouble started in the morning when a long line of unemployed and sympathizers paraded to the building. There the crowd surged outside while the committee went in.

Becoming restless when the committee did not return, men and women began hurling stones and coal at the windows. An old woman on crutches, screaming, investigated and hundreds of persons wearing flaming red arm bands moved on the City Hall.

Ransacked Cars

Fists flew, speakers shouted from atop parked automobiles, windows crashed, a policeman fell. The officers struck desperately at the skulls of the rioters. The throngs ransacked automobiles in a parking lot, seizing anything in sight for missiles.

Fire Chief Earl Traeger declined to turn water on the rioters, fearing that his equipment would be wrecked. Municipal Judge Paul S. Carroll said: "They might wreck civilization if you let them continue."

A second disorder started when the unemployed learned that the delegation which appeared before the council had been jailed.

LOONEY WALKED OUT OF PRISON BEFORE SUNRISE

Former Vice Lord Given Freedom: Daughter Meets Him

Joliet, Ill., April 7.—(AP)—John P. Looney, spotlighted in the '20s as the central figure of a Rock Island, Ill., corruption scandal, walked feebly out of Stateville penitentiary just before sunrise this morning his prison sentence completed.

Looney had spent 8 years and 90 days in the minimum in which a 14 year sentence ends for good behavior. He was given this sentence upon conviction in 1925 for the murder of Bill Gabel, a Rock Island resort keeper.

One of Looney's two daughters, Mrs. Frank H. Hamblin of Warsaw, Texas, met him at the reception room of the prison, outside the gates, when guards led him out at 5:10 o'clock through a mist obscuring the buildings. She had a car at the steps, and after guards had helped the old man—Looney is 68—into the back seat, she propped him up with pillows, wrapped him in blankets and a bathrobe, and drove away. While she would not reveal her plans, prison officials said she would take Looney to her home.

She had been in Joliet since Wednesday, accompanied by an aunt.

Coughed Continually

Looney greeted his daughter with a smile, and talked to her briefly in a wheezing whisper. Settled in the car, he began to cough almost continuously.

He whispered that he had "nothing to say" and his daughter, a trimly dressed woman in new spring clothes, protected him from questions. She said, "There's a lot to say, but it's too late to say it now."

Prison officials made unusual arrangements to allow Looney to leave before daybreak. Sleepy clerks were down at 4 o'clock in the morning to "dress him out," and he left outfitted in a brown suit of prison-made clothes, a neat gray overcoat and hat.

He pulled the overcoat tightly about him as he walked out of the prison hospital, where he spent most of his years of imprisonment with brief periods doing light work on the prison's honor farm. Six weeks ago he entered the hospital again and doctors said that he had been in bed much of that time.

Health Debated

Mrs. Hamblin said her father was (Continued on Page 2.)

NRA ORDERS IN ALABAMA COAL AREA ENJOINED

Federal Judge Issues Writ Preventing Higher Wages

Birmingham, Ala., April 7.—(AP)—The NRA orders raising wages and reducing hours of coal miners were temporarily enjoined in the Alabama coal field today.

Federal Judge C. B. Kennamer in District Court granted coal operators the temporary restraining order. It prevents Federal officials from enforcing the amendment to the bituminous coal code which raised wages in Alabama $1.20 per day and wiped out the differential given southern fields. Hours were reduced to 35 a week.

Judge Kennamer said it should not "in any sense be construed as ruling that the National Industry Recovery act is unconstitutional." He said the points involved did not necessitate such a ruling.

After the order was issued yesterday, D. A. Thomas, member of the Alabama coal code authority, said the operators would meet today to decide whether to reopen the mines, which were shut down yesterday. Fifteen thousand miners were affected by the closing.

Hugh S. Johnson, NRA Administrator, will hold a hearing in Washington Monday on the amendment to the coal code. Recovery officials in Washington withheld comment.

Mrs. Roy Knapp is Called to Her Rest on Friday Evening

Mrs. Roy Knapp passed away at her home, 214 Madison avenue, last evening at 10:45 after an illness of six months duration. She is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Leslie Smith of Dixon and Mrs. Arthur O'Hare of Harmon; and one son, Roy, Jr., at home. One sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller of Dixon and two brothers, George and John Farley of Harmon also survive. One daughter, Mrs. Benhart Dogweiler preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be held from the home Monday morning at 9 o'clock and from St. Patrick's Catholic church at 9:30, Rev. T. L. Walsh officiating and with interment in Oakwood.

Replying to Mr. Risley's Attack on The Telegraph

Elliott C. Risley is circulating an advertisement attacking the Telegraph declaring we refused to publish an advertisement of his on Friday, April 6th. The facts of the matter are that the advertisement was brought in too late to be published on Friday. We were willing to publish it on Saturday but as it was an attack upon another candidate for Sheriff we declined to do so. The contents of this last minute attack to the other candidate and give him an opportunity, if he wished, to reply to Risley's attack in the same issue of the paper. This attitude is a long standing policy with this newspaper. If any opponent of Mr. Risley had sought to attack him in this manner Mr. Risley would have been given the same opportunity to reply or the attack would not have been accepted for publication.

The Telegraph has made no endorsement of any candidate for any party in this primary election. We are endeavoring to be perfectly fair to all candidates. We reserve the right to refuse to publish any last minute attacks upon any candidate when that candidate does not have an opportunity to reply and defend himself.—THE EDITOR.

POLICE SWARM SOUTHWEST IN BIG MAN HUNT

Hunt Barrow, Phantom Bandit, and Two Companions

Fort Scott, Kas., April 7.—(AP)—Clyde Barrow, phantom desperado of the southwest, fled before a growing army of police today after releasing a kidnapped Police Chief whose companion he had murdered.

Scores of officers went into action along the Kansas-Missouri border after the desperado and his two companions released Percy Boyd, Commerce, Okla., Chief of Police, early today. They had held him prisoner for more than 14 hours.

They abducted him near Commerce yesterday after Barrow had shot and killed Cal Campbell, 63, Miami, Okla., constable. Boyd and Campbell had sought to investigate actions of two men and a woman whose motor car was mired in a mudhole.

Kind To Captive

Barrow shot the constable with a machine gun. The trio then forced Boyd into their car and sped away.

Boyd, who suffered a scalp wound, said he was positive as to the identification of Barrow and Bonnie Parker, the desperado's cigar-smoking girl companion. He expressed the belief the other member of the trio, a tall, sandy-haired man, was Raymond Hamilton, alleged associate of Barrow.

He said they had three machine guns, three shot guns, several pistols and a suitcase full of ammunition. They treated him well; helped him bandage his wound, and gave him a clean shirt to replace one which was covered with blood.

Would-be Sheriff Campaigns on Bike

Lawrenceville, Ill., April 7.—(AP)—Despite this motorized age, Jasper C. Wolfe, Democratic candidate for Sheriff in Lawrence county, prefers to conduct his campaign with the aid of a bicycle for transportation.

Wolfe has traveled a distance of 1,000 miles on his bike during the present campaign.

Charges Morgan Co. Democratic Committee Levies Assessments on Employees of State Institutions

Jacksonville, Ill., April 7.—(AP)—A fight for the control of the Morgan county Democratic committee, now headed by State Fire Marshal Sherman V. Coultas, has been enflamed by charges that the present organization has sought to levy assessments against the employees of the three state institutions in Jacksonville.

Governor Horner has taken a hand in the controversy by ordering that all attempts to collect such assessments should cease on penalty of discharge from state service.

The organization, headed by Coultas and Hayden Walker, business manager of the Jacksonville

Dixon Township Voting Precinct Boundaries

After the last general election in Dixon township the Board of Supervisors was forced to rearrange the boundaries of the precincts because of the heavy vote north the river and under the new arrangement that section of the township is given three precincts instead of two. The new boundaries as established by the Supervisors are shown above, and the new precincts come into action for the first time in next Tuesday's primaries, in which any voter can vote any ticket he desires, regardless of how he last voted.

The polls for the primaries will be open from 6 A. M. until 5 P. M. in the following polling places:

1st Precinct—Seigeland Planning Mill office, 209 E. First St.

BLONDE WOMAN, ROBED IN WHITE, IN MURDER CASE

Sought in the Slaying of Indianapolis Real Estate Dealer

Indianapolis, Apr. 7.—(AP)—A mysterious "woman in white" continued today as the outstanding figure in the strange murder of Bert F. Callahan, 45-year-old bachelor real estate broker.

Police doubt the woman committed the murder but they believe she will be able to give important information if they can find her.

Lieut. Chester Butler of the State police, who lives across the street from the Callahan home, told of seeing the woman in white on the porch of the home late Thursday night, a few hours before the bachelor's body was found with a bullet hole in the heart.

Seen in Tavern

Information was received later that a blonde young woman in a white evening gown had entered a tavern a block from the Callahan residence about 10:30 P. M. Thursday and after drinking a glass of beer departed alone.

Robbery has been advanced as one motive for the slaying. Callahan's luxuriously furnished house, where he lived alone, had been ransacked. His diamond ring, valued at $200, his watch and a small calibre revolver are missing.

Norman W. Mumford Died Suddenly Last Night in So. Dixon

Norman Webster Mumford passed away quite suddenly at his home four miles south of Dixon on state route 89 in South Dixon township last night at 11:30. He had been active about the farm throughout the day and appeared in his usual health, being taken ill shortly after 11 o'clock last night. A physician was summoned and attended him but he expired about 11:30, his death being due to a heart attack.

The deceased was born in Hagerstown, Md., Nov. 3, 1880, and had attained the age of 53 years, five months and three days. He was united in marriage to Miss Belle Seikestaad, May 5, 1909. To this union six children were born as follows: Mrs. C. G. Parke and Mrs. Bernell Parke of Chicago, Mrs. Ida Myers of Delta, Ohio, Norman and Perle at home. A son, Robert M., preceded him in death in 1919.

Dramatic Story Told of Jungle in South America Rescue of American From

Newt. Marshall Tells Experience to Mayor of Bolivar Valle

By CARLOS GARCIA (Mayor of Bolivar Valle) (Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press.)

Bolivar Valle, Colombia, April 7.—(AP)—The Guagueros Indians who found the American mining engineer, Newton C. Marshall, in the jungle after his airplane crashed March 10, told me their story today.

The survivor, who is from Milwaukee, Wis., had suffered the agonies of hunger and despair 17 days in the matted forests, when they found him. They helped bring him here yesterday.

Mr. Marshall also told me of his fight "for life" after leaving the wreck of the air liner Von Krohn, despairing of being rescued.

Here is the story of Noel Jamillo the Indian who first saw Mr. Marshall.

"We were fishing to find something to eat. Alejandro Arango, Jose Jesus Ocampo and Reinaldo Echeverri were with me. At the bank of the Uribe river we noticed the white man. He was making signs to us.

Indians Frightened

"We were frightened by the signs and grimaces that he was making. Finally we gathered courage and went to him.

"He made us understand something about an airplane. We asked him what he had eaten and he said only water. (That was March 27, seventeen days after the airplane had crashed.)

"We led him to the river bank where we took from our provisions some panels (a coarse brown sugar made from cane). When we gave him panels he seemed to gain back a little strength. I removed his overcoat which was very wet. Jaramillo said they had first discovered a piece of a man's shirt and then a neck tie. Further on (Continued on Page 2.)

DEMOCRATS TO BLOCK "BRAIN TRUST" PROBE

Inquiry Will Merely Develop Name of Informer

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—Republicans conceded today that they have little chance of turning the Dr. William A. Wirt inquiry into an exhaustive scrutiny of the new deal.

They would like to make it just that, but Democrats say "No."

The Gary, Ind., educator will be asked next Tuesday to name the "brain trust" he accused of saying that President Roosevelt is only a Keresky to be supplanted at the proper moment by a Stalin.

As Republicans see it, if Dr. Wirt gives the name, the "brain trust" will be summoned to deny or confirm. A denial, the G. O. P. men say, would mean the inquiry was all washed up while a confirmation would simply mean one office holder out of a job.

The Democrats, on the other hand, are quick to explain why the inquiry is being limited to the Wirt statement which was read to the House Interstate Commerce committee by James H. Rand. (Continued on Page Two.)

Philadelphia Paper Charges President's Son Jumped Upon Newspaper Reporter's Camera

Philadelphia, April 7.—(AP)—A 19-year-old son of the President jumped several times on the camera.

This man was taking a picture of me and I don't like to have my picture taken," was the explanation which police said they received. Told by H. Vaughan Morgan, Jr., that "this man is the President's son," the officers escorted the youth to Morgan's automobile and the party left.

Young Roosevelt is a week-end guest at the Morgan home in Bryn Mawr.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

DEMOCRATS MET

A meeting of all the Democratic candidates for county offices and members of the Lee County Democratic Central committee, was held last evening at the Amboy city hall. A large delegation from Dixon was present.

BOOSTING PRESTEGAARD

Several automobiles carrying citizens of Lee and Willow Creek townships, arrived in Dixon shortly before noon today on a tour of Lee county in the interest of J. O. "Jack" Prestegaard, one of the Republican candidates for sheriff of Lee County.

STUDY PRINTING CODE

A meeting of newspaper publishers and job printers of Lee, DeKalb and Whiteside counties, to discuss the provisions of the NRA code, was held at the Nachusa Tavern here this afternoon, following luncheon at 12:30 o'clock.

GETS FISHING PERMITS

Dixon fishermen, who have anxiously been awaiting licenses, will now be able to get them at Covert's and the United Cigar Stores, W. H. Wares and Harry Falls. City Clerk Blake Grover received a supply of the licenses this morning.

YOUNG BOWLING STAR

Twelve-year-old Frank Daschbach set a high mark for junior bowlers of Dixon this week, when in a match game he rolled games of 174, 183, 189 and 236, for a total of 782, and an average of 196 per game. Many adult bowlers will find it hard to equal this score.

FIRE IN OUTSKIRTS

The fire department responded to an alarm at 12:30 midnight, the community truck going to the Mrs. Zona Green residence on Cropsy Ave., and First street, west of the city limits. A fire had started in one of the rooms of the house, damaging wearing apparel to the extent of about $50 it was estimated, before being extinguished.

CAR ABANDONED IN INDIANA IS THOT BANDITS'

Bore Minnesota License Plates: Gunner Supplies Found

Indianapolis, April 7.—(AP)—Capt. Matt Leach of the Indiana state police today was informed five men abandoned a black automobile bearing Minnesota license plates late last night after the car collided with a produce truck on U. S. highway 31 several miles north of Indianapolis. A machine gun stock and several clips of cartridges were found in the car. Capt. Leach began an investigation on a theory the machine may have been abandoned by John Dillinger, fugitive desperado, and his companions.

Sheriff Frank Hattery of Noblesville took charge of the machine. It was found the serial numbers had been chiseled from the engine. The car was almost new.

General Motors to Reinstate Union Men if Discharged

Detroit, April 7.—(AP)—A pledge by General Motors that it will re-employ 18 men who charged they were dropped from union activities was hailed today as another step toward peace in the automobile industry.

In both industrial and union circles, the action was received with satisfaction.

The automobile labor board said the company, "in its desire to cooperate with the board," had sent word that it would put the men back to work promptly "without the necessity of the board's inquiring into the correctness or incorrectness of the claims. Other claims of discrimination are being investigated by employers, the board said.

FUGITIVE WILL BE IN CUSTODY OF VICE CONSUL

Burton Berry Is Designated to Bring Him Back for Trial

BULLETIN

Istanbul, April 7.—(AP)—Kenan Bey, Attorney-General of Turkey, announced today that no appeal was possible against his government's decision to hand over Samuel Insull, Sr., to American authorities.

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—Samuel Insull, Chicago fugitive, is to start back to the United States from Turkey next week to face trial on charges resulting from the collapse of his giant utilities organization.

The State Department said today Burton Y. Berry, American Vice-Consul at Istanbul, had been designated by President Roosevelt to take custody of Insull, who has fled from the grip of United States officers for more than a year.

A warrant empowering Berry to serve in that capacity has been signed by President Roosevelt, and cabled to Turkish authorities. Exactly when the trip will start was not announced, but it was expected here to be early in the week.

Route Uncertain

The route by which Insull will be returned will be at the discretion of Robert P. Skinner, the American Ambassador to Turkey.

The State Department did not make public the date on which the return trip will start. It is understood Skinner will instruct Berry to leave whenever he feels all requirements for Insull's legal custody have been met.

Vice Consul Berry is a native of Fowler, Indiana, and graduate from the University of Indiana and the University of Paris (France).

PROPOSED LAWS ARE THREAT TO NAT. RECOVERY

U. S. Chamber Commerce Issues Fortnightly Report

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States said today that "on every hand there appear encouraging signs of further business recovery" but that the "advance" is threatened by some of the pending legislative proposals.

"More men are being put to work at better wages," the organization said in its fortnightly summary of national business affairs. "Firms and corporations, long in the red, are either over the line or getting closer to the black."

"But attention is now centering on the need of business for opportunity to continue its forward movement, unhampered by new and unnecessary restrictions. Certain legislation, some of it on the statute books and some now pending in Congress, threatens this advance."

Fifty Sportsmen at Rod & Gun Club Meeting Last Eve

About fifty hunting and fishing enthusiasts gathered at the Kline & Heckman office last evening for a meeting of the Rock River Valley Rod & Gun club. The members favored the establishment of the proposed state fish hatchery at the Dixon state hospital grounds, at a site which was selected several years ago, instead of the Pines state park. Deputy Conservation Inspector Charles Duis reported that there were almost 50 applications on file in Springfield seeking fish hatcheries, all of which were in advance of the one filed by the local organization the first of this week.

A large delegation from the local club will go to Amboy Tuesday evening to attend a meeting of the Green River Rod & Gun club. At the close of the interesting meeting the newly appointed entertainment committee functioned efficiently for the first time.

Morrisonite Buys Nicolosi's Store

Guido Gemignani of Morrison has purchased the Emanuel Nicolosi confectionery store at 121 Galena avenue, taking possession this morning. The new owner has been a partner in the operation of the Morrison Candy Kitchen for the past 15 years. He has served that city as city marshal, resigning that position last evening. He is also a member of the Morrison post of the American Legion. His wife and two sons will come to Dixon to reside at the close of the school year. Mr. Nicolosi has operated the business with the assistance of the members of his popular family for the past ten years. He plans to take a vacation and for the present will continue to reside in Dixon.

MILK PRICE
Due to prevailing unusual conditions, it is impractical for the Borden Company to announce in advance the price it will pay for fluid milk delivered and accepted.
Therefore, until further notice, the price for fluid milk will not be announced until after said milk is delivered and accepted. The price will be published within five (5) days after the period for which the company will have heretofore announced the price in advance.

Backus Family's Sanity is Under Advisement Today

Rockford, Ill.—The court today had under advisement evidence offered in a sanity hearing for the five members of the family of Charles Backus. Backus is under sentence for conviction of raping his two stepdaughters, and has confessed to the slaying of his eight-year-old son. He pleaded guilty to manslaughter on the latter charge. Those who underwent the tests were Backus' wife, the two stepdaughters, and two younger children.

I will appreciate your vote for Congressman next Tuesday.

DRAMATIC STORY—

they found a place where someone had been sleeping.

Came Upon Body

Then they came upon the body of a white person, already in the process of decomposition.

"In all probability this was the plane's mechanic, a German named Hanneke, who departed with the pilot, Capt. Geck, in search of assistance."

"We went on with Mr. Marshall, helping him over the worst parts of the trail. Alejandro went ahead to make some chocolate in our hut and he came back with some of it before we reached there."

"This happened the afternoon of March 27."

"We asked Mr. Marshall what airplane he was talking about. He replied that on March 10 he had taken passage at Andagoya, en route to Bogota."

"He said the plane was up very high and that the pilot thought he was over the Dauca valley and began to come down."

"After that he remembered nothing until he recovered his senses at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Then he saw there had been a wreck."

The Indian told me that his comrades had gone back to look for the wreckage."

With Plane 12 days

Mr. Marshall told me that he was 12 days in the jungle before he left the wrecked plane and went in search of help. Three days and three nights after that he saw the Indians.

"I regained my senses two hours after the plane crashed," he told me. "One of the passengers, Julio Zuniga, was killed at once. A German passenger, Alexander Notz, had his arms and legs broken."

He remained with him, mostly in the cabin of the plane, until he died four days later.

"The pilot and mechanic were injured. After remaining with us two days, they went into the woods in search of help."

Mr. Marshall described his meeting with the Indians.

"I was unable to shout," he said. "My mouth had been hurt. I had to make signs with my hands. That probably frightened them all the more. I finally made them understand that I was calling for help."

SENATE BREWING
NEW HEADACHES
FOR TAXPAYERS

Revenue Bill May Exact $480,000,000 During Coming Year

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—The Senate brewed new headaches for the taxpayers today.

The tax bill, which was a $285,000,000 measure as it came from the House, already is up to a proposed $330,000,000 in the Senate, with a strong likelihood it will reach $480,000,000 before it is passed.

An amendment by Senator Couzens (R. Mich.) that would add an estimated $55,000,000 and one by Senator LaFollette (R. Wis.) that would be good or perhaps $95,000,000 more, were given the approval today of Senator Harrison (D. Miss.) who is in charge of the legislation.

The bill as received from the House was boosted to $330,000,000 in the Senate Finance committee before reaching the Senate floor.

Levy on Tax Itself

Senator Couzens' proposal is for a 10 per cent super-levy, to be effective for one year only. The 10 per cent would be figured on the tax itself. A person whose tax came to $100, for example, adding ten per cent of that and paying $110.

The LaFollette amendment would boost the super-estate or inheritance levies beyond the finance committee rates and cut down the existing exemptions.

Both proposals are certain of Senate approval.

The present normal income provisions fix a rate of 4 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income and 8 per cent on the excess.

The House and Senate bills make it a flat 4 per cent, but with surtaxes on amounts above $4,000 ranging up to 50 per cent.

Bains Granted an Appeal to Supreme Court of the State

Springfield, Ill., April 7.—(AP)—An appeal to the Supreme Court today was granted John Bain, his sons, John H. and Robert A. Bain, and W. Merle Fisher, under sentence in connection with the closing of a chain of south side Chicago banks in 1932.

Attorneys for the Bains were granted a writ to bring the records of the case from the First District Appellate Court to the Supreme Court for consideration at the June term.

Another conviction of John Bain, John H. Bain and Fisher for accepting deposits when the West Englewood Trust & Savings Bank was insolvent is now pending before the court.

I. N. G. Flier was Injured in Forced Landing Last Eve

Chicago, April 7.—(AP)—A forced landing in fog resulted in severe injuries last night to Maj. Merrill D. Mann, Jr., 45, in charge of National Guard aviation for the Chicago area. His plane nosed over on the Sedgley farm, one mile east of Hinsdale, and he sustained a sprained ankle, and was suffering from shock and exposure. He lay in a damp field for 40 minutes before transportation arrived to take him to a hospital.

I ask the support of my friends when they go to the polls next Tuesday. Please mark ballot for Frank M. Manahan for sheriff. 8114

OUT OF PRISON

in a precarious condition, but prison officials said his health had been a matter of debate ever since he entered. Two years after he was put in the prison Looney applied for parole, with Mrs. Hamblin, energetic in his behalf, and both insisted then that his cough indicated a dangerous pulmonary trouble.

Doctors who examined him then said he had a bronchial infection, and had suffered from tuberculosis earlier in life.

Looney recovered for an interval and was given easy work around the prison. For a while he was a messenger, and later he was water boy for a construction gang. During his trips to the honor farm he took care of sick chickens of the prison flock.

Another attempt to win freedom failed for Looney in 1931 when the state Board of Pardons and Paroles ruled against his daughter's contention that he was gravely ill. She continued her campaign, however, and made another attempt last fall, insisting that although Looney had only a few months more to serve he could not last that long.

State Examination

Governor Henry Horner then asked Dr. Frank J. Jirka, State Health Director, to supervise an examination of the prisoner, in keeping with the state policy of allowing prisoners to "die free."

Dr. Jirka and prison doctors agreed Looney was in no immediate danger.

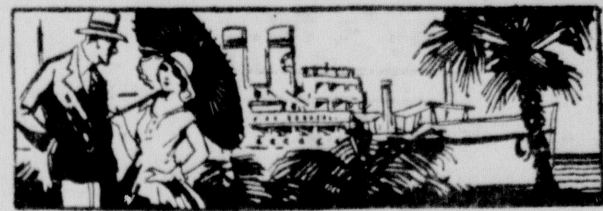

Prison officials said Looney never lost his resentment against his sentence, which was imposed after a sensational investigation of politics and crime in Rock Island had centered upon Looney as the boss of vice, gambling, liquor and extortion.

He complained constantly during his prison term, they said, insisting that he was too ill to bathe or be shaved. Other prisoners complained about his coughing and the doctors preferred to keep him in the hospital whenever possible.

When in the cell house, the guards said, Looney performed one service which kept him in

I LOVE THEE ILLINOIS

I LOVE the waving fields of grain
The dawning skies of gold and sun,
The twilight hours when day is done.
It's all in Illinois!

I love the prairies and the dells,
The cheering breeze that swells
And dies again with evening bells,
In Illinois, dear Illinois!

I love the gorgeous yellow flowers
That autumn brings in shady bowers—
Delightful days and sunny hours;
In Illinois, blest Illinois!

I love the groves and plains and fields,
The richest soil that plenty yields,
The restful hope one always feels
In Illinois, my Illinois!

In thy country's need—a son,
Heroic men who victory won;
I love thee for what thou hast done;
Oh, Illinois, great Illinois!

Here lie the green graves of our sires,
Of men who fought our country's wars,
The loved and lost of passing years.
In Illinois, my Illinois!

Mrs. H. Chronister Happily Surprised

A group of friends assisted by Mrs. George Walter gathered at the G. A. R. hall last evening carrying out a cleverly planned surprise party on Mrs. Hannah Chronister, 815 Ottawa Avenue. Mrs. Chronister welcomed her guests and 500 formed the diversion of the evening. Mrs. Harley L. Swarts was awarded the high score favor and George Walters, Jr., the consolation honors. Instead of the customary tempting refreshments, a generous banquet was served, all of the guests bringing well filled baskets. At the close of the happy evening, Mrs. Chronister extended an invitation to her guests to return at any time.

Curious

By Helen Welshimer

WHETHER have you gone, my dear, Spain or Singapore?
I've not seen you anywhere
For a month or more.

MAYBE you are ill... but then
You could let me know.
If you're out of town, can't you
Write to tell me so?

If you're working hard you should Notify me, dear.
Just why you have stayed away
Isn't very clear.

FOR you said you'd see me soon,
Just a day or two.
But the days have turned to weeks...
What's become of you?

Fashion Revue by Saint Agnes Guild a Success

Each year the members of St. Agnes Guild of St. Luke's church give two fashion revues and tea, one in the spring and one in the fall, and yesterday afternoon in Masonic Temple, they gave their spring revue and tea, which was attended by more than 250 guests and in the evening a delightful dance was given, for which music was furnished by Don Shaw's orchestra from the Purple Crackle night club. The dance floor was crowded with pleased dancers until the morning hours. A neat sum has been added to the Guild coffers.

Eight scenes were given in the fashion revue, the ball room being delightfully springlike in decorations of apple blossoms made by the Guild members, and the social committee, with Mrs. Elmer Reynolds as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Robert Warner, Mrs. Wilson Dysart and Mrs. Robert Shaw, collaborating with Mrs. M. L. Davies, president of the Guild and the other committees. For the dance in the evening the large flood lights in pastel tints on the apple blossoms made the scene a pretty one. Under the direction of Mrs. Chas. Bishop a group of eight girls presented a charming dance number, the girls being Misses Mary Davies, Lorraine Giannoni, Helen Long, Eleanor Sterling, Jean Bovey, Georgianna Shaw, May Louise Eichler and Emily Swan. Mary Lee Burns was solo danseuse.

Eight scenes were presented in the fashion revue, the mannequins including Mmes. William Wuerth and W. H. Hardy and the Misses Lucy Bovey, Katherine Mack, Isabel Lowery, Beryl McDonald, Polly Woodvatt and Betty Senneff.

Navy blue prevailed in the first scene, with Mrs. Wuerth wearing a navy blue suit trimmed with white gailyak; Miss Mack in a navy blue crushed crepe coat with windblown collar and taffeta trimming; and the Misses Lowery and Senneff in blue coats, fur-trimmed.

The six mannequins in Scene 2 all wore jacket suits. Miss Bovey, a blond, wore a navy corded silk crepe suit with white pique trimming and navy hat.

Print frocks prevailed in the third scene, when Mrs. Hardy wore a brown and white print, Miss Woodvatt a Roman stripe print, and Miss McDonald a red and white print with a red felt hat.

Miss Mack, who has beautiful red hair, wore a redinote coat of brown wool with brown plaid silk dress for the fourth scene. The smart redinote worn by Mrs. Wuerth was in black, and her black hat was trimmed in white.

Knit suits and dresses were worn in the fifth scene with Miss Bovey in a rust boucle dress with matching straw hat; Mrs. Hardy in a three-piece suit of blue skirt and jacket and white blouse; and Miss Senneff in a smart red and black dress trimmed with black satin.

For the sixth scene Miss Lowery modeled a red silk suit and red hat; Miss Woodvatt was wearing a

Lonely Child Often Too Well Sheltered

How a child can be well cared for and still be lonely is described by Olive Roberts Barton in another of her articles on Child Training.

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
Strange that I should be writing this particular part of my series where I am at present—in the far west where desert and mountain meet.

After twenty years of conducting a column, one needs a rest. And yet it is never a complete rest because wherever I go, work goes with me. But all that I see is grist to my mill and I am ever anxious to pass on to my mother friends the impressions I gather as I go.

There are a number of children at the quiet resort, children of all ages, but children simply dressed, supervised mostly by nurses or governesses, and living well-ordered, quiet lives.

Children of the Rich
But as I am writing about playmates at present, one thing strikes me most forcibly. They are lonely, these children. It is not the place—for as places go there is as much to do here as anywhere. It is something else. And it is not the parents either, for I know many of them and they are neither neglectful nor indifferent. It is a fallacy to think that the more fortunate mother lacks heart where her children are concerned and spends her time between beauty parlors, the golf links and the ballroom.

But I have seen the children of the rich in almost every setting. I know some of the families intimately. I have watched their babies grow up from infancy to man or womanhood and I get the same picture always, a sort of exquisite loneliness.

They themselves, of course, are not aware of it, and it is just as well. But the extreme segregation, and eternal supervision (which of late years has had to be increased) fills me with heartache for them. They get excited and thrilled over some ordinary little event that the average child would consider pretty small change indeed.

The Wholesome Spirit
I shall always feel that the little fellow or the little girl who tramps home from school, throwing snowballs and getting himself generally dirtied up, who slams in and hooks an apple or a cookie, yells, "Hello, mom, I'm home," and slams out again, banging his sled or his wagon down the steps to join his crowd, is living such a real life and such a rich life. Holes in the carpet don't matter, and darned knees, and a little jelly on the table cloth. It all goes. It's life and they are right in the thick of it.

I myself have been through everything. When I was mending underwear to make it endure another last month, or bemoaning a chair with the springs on the floor, or wondering if a quarter would get enough meat for supper I envied the rich. My theme song of the plans he has in mind for his work with the Boy Scout Troop here.

Mr. Birch gave an inspiring and uplifting talk which will not be soon forgotten.

At the close of the program Mrs. Pine, general chairman of the program committee, thanked all those who had worked on the various committees and those who had taken part in the program.

She announced that Thursday, April 19, has been designated as the date of the annual school exhibit, the hours from one to four o'clock.

At this time, the retiring president, Mr. Manon introduced the new officers who assumed their places: John Lawrence, president; Emmett Reed, vice president; Mrs. J. C. Becker, Sec.-Treas.

The new president gave a short talk, expressing his desire to maintain the high standard set by his predecessor.

The committees for next year are:

was, "I don't care for myself, but it's for the children."

I have lost that a lot. The scales have dropped from my eyes. I know now that I was never happier than then. Not that I have joined the privileged—anything else but. I am still a "plunger" and a dollar is a precious thing, but those earlier struggles were normal and usual struggles and I know that the children had real and wholesome lives.

buoyancy of Youth
It comes to me that those children growing up on a friendly street in a little house where mother ironed, or canned fruit or cleaned windows, had a richer life in many ways than those I classed as more fortunate. One has to have perspective to see certain things.

Perhaps my sympathy for the "little rich" is neither needed nor appreciated. Perhaps there is something I do not understand. But I have been pretty well over the country in my time and have met all kinds of people, and the impression stays. The child who is too sheltered, too supervised, and too limited leads a sort of starvation existence to me.

I remember one time seeing five little children rolling in a plowed field down south while their daddy shoved along the old family mule and their mother reached up to fix a gourd on a chinaberry tree for a bird-house. All were laughing. They seemed so happy and healthy and real. I suppose they had a cent in the world. That picture stays. There is a certain look in a child's eyes that needs no words.

Germinal—Zola
Germinal occupies a place among Zola's works which is constantly becoming more assured, so that to some critics it even begins to seem the only book of his that in the end may survive. It is set in a coal-mining area of France, and is an epic of the class-war, of strikes, starvation, crude love and hate, riot, disaster, and assassination. A universal sense of pity pervades the story, a pity that embraces alike the plemen in their want, and their forced foes, the young soldiery. This edition gives the story in the only unabridged English translation, which is the work of Havelock

Helpful Hints For Housewives

PUT STRING AROUND CORK TO OPEN PERFUME BOTTLE—

Have you ever received a nice bottle of fragrant perfume, but it aside to open for some special occasion and then found difficulty removing the top?

Of course there is the old trick of pouring hot water over the corked part of the bottle. But some times this does not work. If such is the case ask someone to hold the bottle for you, wind string around the glass cork and keep on twisting or moving the string so that it creates friction.

This works quickly.

TO LIGHTEN YOUR LABORS

KEEPT LIGHT BULBS CLEAN—

Often dimness in the reading light, or any other light where brightness is an asset, is the result of plain, ordinary dirt.

A weak solution of hot water, good quality soap (or cleaning powder) and ammonia should be prepared. Then take a soft cloth and dampen with this solution and wipe off the electric light bulbs. After that admire your own light work!

Or, if you have a parchment shade, there is nothing that will clean it better than by rubbing it with a gum eraser.

CHEESE AS "BASE" FOR POACHED EGG—
Always cook cheese very slowly. And, when stirring it, stir in the same direction and without ceasing. This insures smoothness.

Melted cheese on toast as a foundation for a poached egg adds a little zest to this dish.

Hot melted cheese on toast with afternoon tea makes a nice change from the usual sandwich or more "fussy" kinds of cakes.

TO PREVENT SILK STREAKING

When laundering plain or figured colored silk dresses, work quickly both in the actual washing and in rinsing. Keep the garment moving and prevent color-streaking by drying without hanging up the dress dripping wet. Such dresses should not be soaked before being laundered.

PRUNES USED IN SALADS
Stewed prunes, stuffed with cheese, nuts or celery and arranged on lettuce leaves, make a suitable salad to serve with chops or roasts. French or mayonnaise salad dressing may be used with it.

Unity Guild Met All Day Thursday

A very pleasant all day meeting was held Thursday with Mrs. Justin Darrah. The usual picnic dinner was served at the noon hour to 12 members and one guest, Mrs. Clayton Kesseling.

After the dinner hour the members were busily engaged in completing the quilt for Mrs. Darrah, one doing their own needle work.

A short business meeting followed and the reports of the secretary and treasurer were given, and the collection was taken.

IT ISN'T JUST FISHING THAT CALLS YOU NOW.

Along about this time of year, an imperative desire begins to stir in the breast of the average citizen. He wants, in short, to go a-fishing; he doesn't much care where, and he doesn't much care whether he catches anything, but he does want to go, and the desire makes him restless.

It would be a mistake to suppose that he really envies President Roosevelt his ability to get on a great yacht and sail off to piratical seas to hook tropical fish six feet long. That is fishing de luxe, and for the ordinary man it's a thing to dream of, but not actually to desire. His wants are ever so much simpler.

It all begins when the first really spring-like day comes strolling along. The air drifts past his nostrils with an unsettling, winy tang to it, a couple of little white clouds tumble lazily across a blue sky, hopeful birds chirp foolishly amid budding branches—and the fisherman begins to see visions and dream dreams.

His visions, as like as not, will take him a long way back in time and space. He'll see a boyhood scene—a looped streamlet wandering without purpose along the reedy borders of pasture-lands and plots of woodland, with a mossy dam and an old mill somewhere in the distance, and a barefooted youngster in a tattered, over-sized straw hat loafing contentedly toward his banks, a crooked fishing pole over his shoulder and a tomato can full of worms in one fist.

He will see this, or something like it, from his own past; and while he will remember all sorts of stirring incidents connected therewith, such as the catching of prodigious sunfish and rock bass and an occasional repulsive-looking bullhead, he will remember chiefly the aura that used to invest such expeditions—that unforgettable, priceless atmosphere of perfect happiness, perfect contentment, and indolent, care-free well-being such as no one but a boy with a fishing pole ever really knows.

And it is the memory of this that unsettles our sober citizen, as he meditates on the business of fishing.

He may not know it, but what he really wants is to recapture an echo of that long-lost and halcyon time that he knew when he was in knee-breeches.

FACTS MUST BE KNOWN.

If a member of President Roosevelt's official family is actually working toward a Communist state in America, and is pulling the wool over the President's eyes so that the nation can be maneuvered to the edge of Marxism without realizing it, the fact needs to be established definitely and the man's name should be published.

And then the man needs to be thrown out of Washington so fast that he won't know what hit him.

But, on the other hand, if none of this is true—if someone has just been indulging in a lot of loose talk, creating a bogey-man out of nothing to scare us out of adopting a law or a set of laws which certain important gentlemen do not like—then the man who started all the talk needs to be shown up as an irresponsible rumor-monger and discredited forever.

The charges spread before the House Commerce Committee in the letter read by James Henry Rand, Jr., must be investigated quickly and thoroughly. The public has a right to know the exact facts in the matter.

Every fair-minded person should be in favor, from social and economic standpoint, of a minimum wage; of the elimination of child labor; of a gradual shortening of the hours of labor.—President Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., of General Motors.

English grammar is most simple. I have spent my life in an effort to get people to be coherent. I am a brother of Shakespeare. Moreover, I am not interested in punctuation.—Gertrude Stein.

Living Our Everyday Lives

NUMBER, PLEASE!

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton.)

"Some conjurers say that number three is the magic number, and some say number seven. It's neither, my friend, neither. It's number one!"

So old Fagin, in the Dickens story, "Oliver Twist," set forth the philosophy of life upon which he acted with an unflinching consistency.

The miserable old man lived his miserable life on the principle of "me first, number one second, and if there's anything left, I'll take it," and it brought him to a miserable end, as inevitably it always does.

In the last book of the Bible there are two dark phrases which have given rise to much conjecture—"the mark of the beast" and "the number of the beast." All sorts of theories have been devised about them.

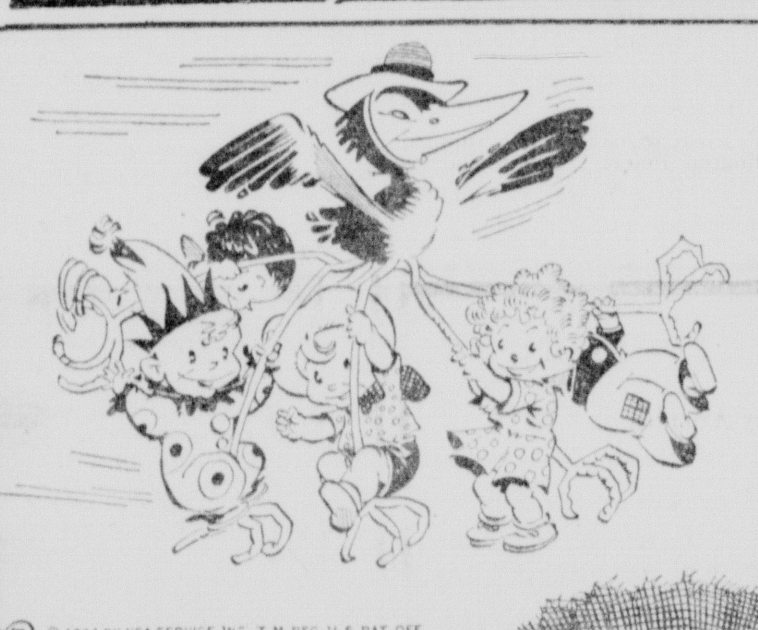

Joseph Parker, a predecessor of mine in the City Temple of London, once told his people that there is no mystery at all about either phrase. "The mark of the beast," he said, "is the capital I, and the number of the beast is Number One." His exegesis was practically right at any rate.

If a man, or a nation, acts on the idea that the magic number is Number One, they are headed for disaster. It is the law of the jungle and will end in a beastly life, however polished by culture or gilded with gold—it is so in the nature of things, in spite of our clever wit.

"The peril of the world today is Faginism, and it will bring our civilization where it brought old Fagin unless we revise our ideas of what the magic number of life really is. When a philosophy of life has been tried so often and always failed it ought to be on the rubbish heap."

The gentle-hearted Whittier was right: "Love of God is love of good, and to be saved is simply this, salvation from our selfishness."

No, it cannot be done. No argument is necessary; the facts of life prove it. God has our number, and

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The bird with six legs chirped real loud, which quite amused the tiny crowd. Said Scouty, "I have never seen a bird like that before."

"If you'd ask me, I'd quickly say that six legs would be in the way. Most birds have only two legs. Why does that big bird need more?"

The magic man said, "Well, you see, that was a hunch that came to me. I planned to give you Tinsies a surprise. That's what I have done."

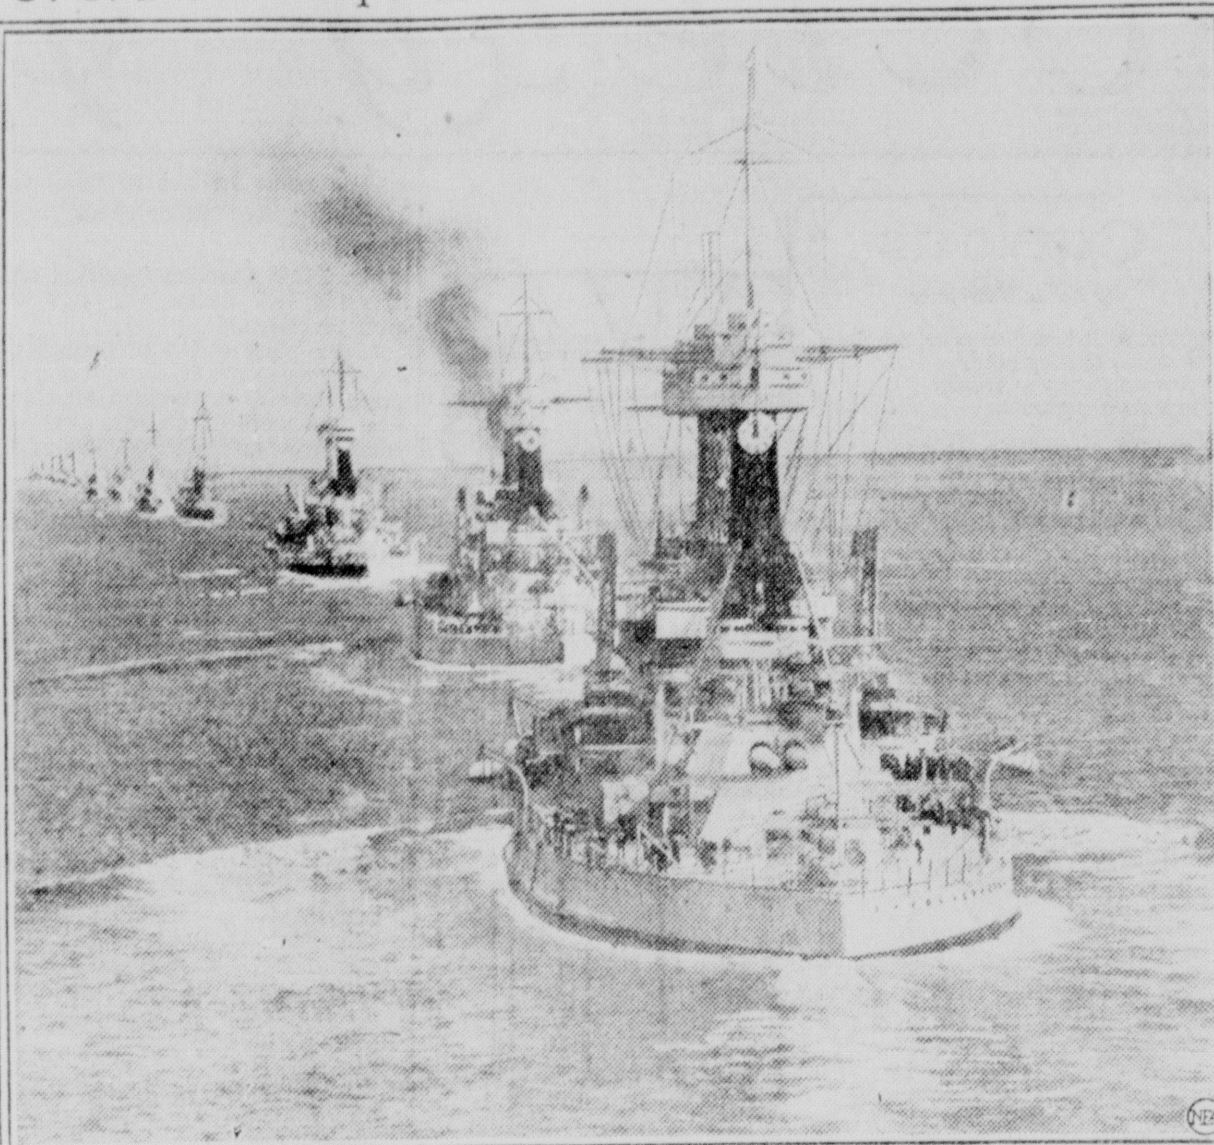

"You have seen birds whose legs numbered two. I knew this would be something new. Before you are through with that old bird you will have a lot of fun."

"Oh, how?" asked Doty. "Tell us, quick! Is your bird going to do a trick? I'll bet that he can run real fast. Please make him race around."

"All right," replied the man. "You'll see that he is as fast as fast can be. In fact he will show such speed that his feet will not touch the ground."

Then to the bird he said, "All ness." But, oddly enough, we still think that with free-wheeling and a streamlined car we can overcome all resistance and make the grade, self-geared.

No, it cannot be done. No argument is necessary; the facts of life prove it. God has our number, and

By His law selfishness defeats itself.

SLEEP

Sleep is a familiar enough experience and yet, as a physiologic performance, it is beset with many mysteries. Technically, we define sleep as a normal temporary loss of consciousness, occurring periodically. We know that in sleep the individual does not appreciate or respond to the ordinary and sensory stimulations which during his waking hours draw his attention and influence his behavior.

Beyond such elementary facts there is little more we can say with certainty. Because of this, a recent contribution made by Dr. Gerville Giddings, of Atlanta, Ga., on sleep in children is of interest. Dr. Giddings studied the sleep behavior of 28 children, from nine to 14 years of age, for over a period of 364 nights.

On the theory that the sounder the sleep the less the sleeper moves about, he observed that the children slept most soundly within the first and second hour after retiring.

However the first 30 minutes after retiring represent a period in which the average individual moves about with the greatest frequency, while the following 30 to 45 minutes represent the most quiet part of the whole sleeping time. According to the doctor's records, the longest period that any individual remained sleeping without moving was 107 minutes.

Each individual, he found, has his unique sleep pattern. In general, however, females appear to be sounder sleepers than males.

Dr. Giddings tested out certain practices and procedures which are said to affect sleep. He found that the drinking of six ounces of warm milk at bedtime seems to promote quiet sleep in normal children. The use of other beverages, including some containing three-fifths of a gram of caffeine, did not have this desirable effect, but seemed on the contrary, to promote restlessness. He found that eating very heavily before retiring resulted in marked restlessness which in many cases continued throughout the night.

PONTIAC'S ONLY INDIAN WAR VET- ERAN TO DEPART

Will Spend the Rest of His Days in Soldiers' Home

Pontiac, Ill., April 7.—(AP)—Pontiac has lost the last of its Indian War veteran now that William Littlewood, 87, has gone to live in the United States Soldiers Home in Washington, D. C.

Billy Littlewood, when 20 years old, enlisted with the United States cavalry at Bowling Green, Ky. He was shipped with 550 others from Jefferson Barracks, Mo., to the Dakota hills in 1876 to replace the troop wiped out by the Sioux at Custer's massacre.

In his three years of patrolling that sparsely settled territory Billy's troop skirmished only once with the hostile Sioux and that was when the Indians had raided the Cheyenne agency. During the pursuit his troop lost many horses and men.

Burned Village

The redmen surrendered at the sight of two artillery pieces being trained on their village. This village was burned to the ground and 950 of the Sioux Indian ponies were taken back to the post at Ft. Lincoln, Dakota and were sold by the government in St. Paul for from $2.50 up to $5.

In his third year out there Littlewood developed rheumatism and was honorably discharged. He returned to a Tennessee farm near Nashville where he had been employed and there married his employer's daughter. After her death he moved to Pontiac where he resided for 21 years. His only daughter passed away.

RELIEF ROLLS GROW

Chicago — Demobilization of the CWA forces was attributed by Secretary Wilfred S. Reynolds of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission to a sharp increase during March in the number of families receiving relief. The increase was 18.8 per cent downstate and 14.1 per cent in Cook county.

Irrational School Retrenchment Hit by Senator, Judge

Columbus, O., April 7.—(AP)—A Federal Judge and a United States Senator Friday told the Citizens Conference on the Crisis in Education that dollars saved now through irrational school retrenchment would be only a part of the dollars spent in the future battle against resultant crime.

"Juvenile delinquency is a million times more dangerous to our nation than the combined efforts of all the roving criminals sought by the police," said Senator Royal S. Copeland, who headed a Senate investigation of racketeering.

Judge Walter C. Lindley of the United States District Court, Danville, Ill., pointed to the inverse relationship of proper education to crime.

Dr. Wirt Will Go to Capital Tuesday to Reveal His Data

Gary, Ind., April 6.—(AP)—Dr. William A. Wirt today announced he would be present next Tuesday to tell a House of Representatives committee at Washington details of his charges that certain members of the administration "brain trust" were plotting to overthrow the government.

Republican members of the committee continued to protest the 3 to 2 vote yesterday by which it was decided that Wirt's first testimony should be confined to naming the "brain trust" members with whom he said he talked and relating the reported conversations in detail.

IT'S A FORD—BUT CHEAP AT $3500!

Under the hood of this smart and distinctive town car is—what do you think?—a Ford V8 engine! But this is all that's Ford-ish about it—except that it enables the builders to offer the car at the remarkably low price of $3500—a give-away! The car is built by the Brewster people, subsidiary to Rolls-Royce, has a 127-inch wheelbase, dual silencers, booster brakes, improved springing and all the other refinements you will find in custom automobiles that sell, ordinarily, at a minimum of $5500.

Happy Evening
The Emmert Community Club entertained Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Woodward on Tuesday evening April 3 in honor of their golden wedding. The honored couple having lived in the community since 1920.

A most happy evening was spent. A miscellaneous program was given by members of the club of songs and readings in keeping with the occasion. The president of the club, Harry Currens gave a brief history of Mr. and Mrs. Woodward from childhood until present.

At the close of the program Earl Buck by request with well chosen words presented the aged couple with a beautiful Easter egg with many good wishes from the club. Mr. and Mrs. Woodward then responded in appreciation of the friendship and honor given them.

Lovely refreshments were served by the ladies of the club, the tables being prettily decorated in yellow and white. About 45 were present.

We have some lovely colored shell paper in White, Pink, Blue, Yellow and Green. Put up in rolls from 10 to 50 cents. B. F. Shaw Printing Co.

Attorney Denies He Attempted to Blackmail Harold Ickes

Chicago, April 7.—(AP)—Attorney Lucius J. M. Malm, former Federal Judge of the Virgin Islands, formally denied that he had attempted to blackmail Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes.

He asked the Chicago Bar Association last night to exonerate him. Ickes had demanded that he and C. W. Larsen, former Assistant City Corporation Counsel, be disbarred for "unprofessional conduct." The Association has launched an investigation. Larsen's answer to the charges had not yet been filed.

Republican Primaries April 10th, 1934

To the Voters:
As citizens of Lee County you are in a position to know whether or not I have made good as County Judge. It has been my ambition to render my best service to every citizen of Lee County in an honest straightforward manner.

I have held the office a little more than eight years and if ability and experience count I believe I am entitled to another term. If there ever was a time when our Nation, State and County needed men of experience, integrity and ability it is now. If you believe that I have been competent, honest and fearless in the performance of my duties I would be pleased to have you vote for me and also inform your friends and neighbors of my good work as County Judge.

Trusting that you will give me due consideration and that I may receive your support on April 10th and assuring you that I will perform the duties of the office in the future as I have in the past, I remain

Yours very truly,
William L. Leech.

An Open Letter to the Voters of the 35th Senatorial District...

GEORGE F. PRESCOTT

Feeling that in placing my name before the electors of my district, as a candidate for Senator, they should know something of my past life and of the principles for which I stand. I am submitting thru your press this letter which I hope you will take as personal.

I was born in Dixon, Illinois, Jan. 12th, 1875. Am now in my 60th year. Went with my parents, when a small child, to northwestern Iowa. Was raised on a farm there. My first job was on a farm at thirteen years of age at $6.00 per month. I have made my own way ever since.

Returned to my native city when fourteen. Was educated in her public schools and afterwards worked my way thru Northwestern Pharmacy School. Entered the drug business at nineteen at $3.00 per week. Continued in the drug business for twenty-seven years. Am a registered druggist. Sold my business in 1920 and entered the oil business. Built one of the first independent stations in northern Illinois. Am now running a wholesale and retail oil business in Dixon. My two sons are with me and active in our business.

Have been in politics in a limited way only. Was township assessor for two terms and county supervisor for one term. Have been a life long Republican. Served several years on the county central committee.

I have never inherited anything but my Mother's Bible which I prize highly. I believe in God, a Government, of, for, and by the people. I believe in business that sixteen ounces still make a pound. I believe that a promise when given is sacred and should be kept.

I believe that right, like truth, when crushed to earth, will rise again. I do not subscribe to granting special privileges to any man or group. I feel that the office I seek is a very important and honorable one. I believe that some grave interests of our people are at issue in the halls of our state and nation at this time. I should be honored to have a part in the deciding of these issues in the best interests of our people.

I have no axe to grind, political or otherwise. I do not seek this office for its compensation, not knowing what the salary of our Senator is.

I promise here and now that if nominated and elected I will give the best that is in me to the interest and welfare of the people of my district and state.

In entering this contest it is my greatest hope that no statement of mine shall ever hurt or humiliate a candidate of any party for this high office. I shall conduct my campaign with dignity and fairness, befitting the position I am seeking at your hands.

Faithfully yours,

GEORGE F. PRESCOTT.

OBITUARY

ELEANOR E. HACKBARTH (Contributed)

Youth is not rich in time, it may be poor; Part with as with money, sparingly; pay No moment, but in purchase of its worth; And what its worth is, ask deathbeds, they can tell.

Eleanor E. Hackbarth, oldest child of William and Clara Hackbarth, was born in Sterling, Ill., June 22, 1911 and passed to her eternal reward at the Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital at Dixon, March 29, 1934, aged 22 years, nine months and seven days. She had been ill for more than one year.

The deceased with her parents, lived in the vicinity of Dixon for the past 15 years and when her parents transferred their membership to Grace Evangelical church, she also united with the church.

Those who remain to mourn the loss are: the sorrow stricken parents, who did everything that they could for her recovery; five sisters and two brothers, Claire, Vileta, Leola, Olive, Ethlyn, Wilbur and Gladys, with a host of other relatives and friends.

We give her spirit over to the hands of the Almighty God who doeth all things well and sometime will understand.

The funeral was conducted from the Grace Evangelical church on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. A. D. Shaffer. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery in Sterling.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's Scotties are Safe: But Lawyer Kicks

Bryn Mawr, Pa., April 7—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Weir Logan Vanderbilt's Scottish terriers have been saved from death, but counsel for the former wife of Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., is perturbed because court costs totaled $1125.

Assessed against the young society matron, the costs are "exorbitant," says Attorney H. Joseph Harrison. He says he will seek to have them reduced.

As for the dogs, a promise to pen up the three black Scotties saved them from extermination. Miss Louise Wright, 18-year-old neighbor of Mrs. Vanderbilt charged that two of the dogs had bitten her three times. Failing to get satisfaction from their owner, she swore out a warrant charging Mrs. Vanderbilt with harboring vicious animals.

SHERIFF

The Records of the United States Courts in Chicago show that when Ward Miller was sheriff of Lee County this county was outstanding among other counties in the Chicago area because bootleggers and other gangsters and racketeers avoided Lee County. They could not buy protection here.

The records at the Lee County court house show that while Ward Miller was sheriff he turned over to the county treasurer earnings of his office to the amount of $10,145.66, an ALL-TIME RECORD for economy and efficiency in the sheriff's office in Lee County. That figure does not include any fines collected through the activity of the sheriff's forces.

The residents and taxpayers of Lee County can be certain that if Ward Miller is elected sheriff the law will be honestly and fearlessly enforced and that the best interests of the taxpayers will be in good hands. The best proof of that is not empty promise but PAST PERFORMANCE and his record in office is guarantee of the type of administration the county may expect from him.

Senator Reed Decries "Taxation Without Representation"

Philadelphia, April 7.—(AP)—U. S. Senator David A. Reed, charging that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace is the "George the Third of today," says that "processing taxes are taxation without representation, just as the stamp tax of King George."

"You may not know it, but you are paying taxes today on every paper napkin, every paper towel and every bag which you buy," he said in a speech in Phila. "This tax was imposed by the Secretary of Agriculture as a processing tax. You will recall from the history books the famous tea party in Boston. It strikes me we should all take our napkins, towels and bags and dump them into the Delaware river."

Republican Candidate

For County Clerk

It is to the interest of the people of the county of Lee to elect a man of experience to the office of County Clerk. The County Clerk's office is the head office of the county, where everything pertaining to the county has its beginning and its ending. It is the most important of all the county offices and it requires a man of experience, especially in these times of depression, so why change horses in the middle of a stream at the expense of the tax payers. If re-nominated and elected, the affairs of the County Clerk's office will go on as they have in the past and every one will receive the same courteous treatment that they have received in the past.

The flair for hanging Huey Long in effigy has spread from Louisiana to Kentucky. Here is a dummy Huey hanging from a tree in Louisville, placed there by admirers of E. R. Bradley, prominent turfman, target of Huey's most recent attack, with some pleased spectators viewing the sight.

French General Fights Again—in Street

A French soldier who showed he hadn't forgotten how to fight was General Barty de Forton, named in connection with the Stavisky case. You see him here (facing camera) grappling with a cameraman near the Palais de Justice in Paris. He was arrested and charged with assault.

Doctor, 76, Takes Third Bride

A difference of 56 years in their ages was no barrier in the December-May romance of twice-married Samuel Martin, 76, retired physician, and 20-year-old Ada Bell, whom he met a few months ago when he stopped at a billing station run by Miss Bell's father. The couple are shown leaving church after they were married in Mount Holly, N. J.

Send a Business Man to the Legislature

Real Estate and Taxes

I strongly favor the enactment of a State Income Tax as a just and equitable means of reducing the present exorbitant taxes now levied on real estate and general property. The tax base must be broadened as to include many thousands who are not now contributing their just proportion of taxes.

Our School System

Many of the public schools of Illinois are today in danger of being closed due to insufficient financial resources. I feel that it is the duty of the State Legislature to adopt methods whereby a fundamentally sound financial program may be enacted. Never again must our public schools be placed in the same critical circumstances of today. Upon the education of our children hangs the future fate of the nation.

Old Age Pensions

When elected, I shall sponsor an Old Age Pension Act for Illinois. It has proved to be the most ECONOMICAL and HUMANE method of caring for aged dependents, in the 27 states in which it is now in effect.

Retail Business

The independent retail dealers of the State of Illinois can no longer compete with the "powerful trusts" by which they are opposed. I favor a more equitable basis of competition for these independent merchants.

For the Laboring Class

I favor a "saving wage" and not a mere "living wage." I shall be ever watchful of "labor," endeavoring at all times to safeguard their position in industry.

A New Picture in Republican Politics

H. M. Stewart was born on a farm near Charleston, Iowa. Graduated Simpson College, Indianola, Iowa. Served overseas with U. S. N. Aviation Corps in the World War. He is 39 years of age. For the past 10 years he has conducted a successful printing business in DeKalb. He is at present an active member of the DeKalb County Board of Supervisors, a member of the Blue Lodge of Masons, Odd Fellows, Eagles, Modern Woodmen and American Legion.

Conducting the affairs of the State of Illinois is purely a business matter. Send a business man with business ability to represent you in the State Legislature.

H. M. Stewart is a new picture in Republican politics. He has never before asked the voters for their support.

BY VOTING FOR ONLY ONE CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE, THAT CANDIDATE RECEIVES 3 VOTES.

Throughout my campaign for the office of Representative in the General Assembly from the 35th District I have clearly stated my stand on the issues confronting the citizens of downstate Illinois. If you are in accord with my platform, I shall be happy to receive your support on April 10th. I shall make a sincere and conscientious effort, when elected, to carry out my program. I shall endeavor to render to the residents of DeKalb, Lee and Whiteside Counties the representation in our State Legislature to which they are entitled and which they may rightfully expect from their public servants.

I feel that the 35th District is entitled to active representation in the State Legislature. I shall sponsor such legislation as is needed, and will vigorously oppose that which is detrimental to the best interests of my constituents.

I offer my sincere thanks for the splendid treatment accorded me by the public throughout my campaign.

H. M. STEWART.

REPRINTED FROM THE GENOA REPUBLICAN

Stewart's Nomination
Would Serve Our Best Interests

H. M. Stewart of DeKalb is making the race for Representative in the General Assembly at Springfield. His opponents are Brydia and Allen of Whiteside and Collins of DeKalb.

Mr. Stewart is widely known throughout the district, makes a pleasing impression upon those he meets, and has sound, constructive ideas which will help the taxpayer's pocketbook if he can put them over, and we are of the opinion he can, if given a chance.

We believe that we need a representative at Springfield who will fight our battles on the ground and not give them absent treatment.

We like Mr. Stewart because he appears to be an upright, honest, courageous gentleman who says what he thinks and does what he says he will do.

LITTLE AMERICA ANTARCTICA

With Byrd at the South Pole

by C. A. Abele, Jr. President

U.S.N.A.

A Whirlpool of Excitement!

LITTLE AMERICA, ANTARCTICA, March 22 (via Mackay Radio).—Some excitement! Radio reported so we can send our accumulated stories and messages. I helped dig the Fokker plane out of the snow of our blizzard last week, watched it start out on a test flight with Lieutenant Commander Isaac Schlossbach at the controls, and crash on the ice 500 yards south of the administration building. It was completely destroyed except some of the instruments and the motor. The four men in it were bruised but not injured.

LeRoy Clark, our commissary officer, got lost in a blizzard half a mile out of camp and was rescued by Duke Dane, one of our dog drivers. Our new medic, Dr. Louis H. Potaka, from New Zealand, performed a marvelous appendicitis operation on J. A. Pelter, the aerial mapper, under terrible conditions in the Columbia radio shack, with Admiral Byrd holding the instruments. These precious instruments were almost lost in a sudden gasoline fire, that almost wiped out our administration building. Dr. Potaka accidentally started it while preparing for the operation. It was only put out by the heroic work of Paul Stiple, Pete Demas, Stevenson Corey, and several others. Then Pilot William C. Bowtin and Clay Bailey, radio operator, got lost in a blizzard in the Pilgrim plane, 15 miles from camp and were found by Admiral Byrd in the Kelleit autogyro. At 20 below zero they were sleeping peacefully in their tents and had buried their plane in the snow so the howling wind would not blow it away. They were returning from a trip to one of our southern bases, 100 miles away, so you can mark that flight on your club map with a black pencil—from the star at Little America to 79.49 south along the west meridian 163.12 and back. Then with the dog team symbol mark a course from the star along the same meridian to 81.03 south. That's where the main dog team party is now. Then make a wavy line right alongside to Lat. 80.14 where our four tractors, under command of Harold June, have successfully ploughed their way to another of our southern bases.

All of these events took place after we were routed out of our bags in the middle of the night a couple of weeks ago and had to couple 24 hours carrying tons of supplies to a new location and prepare to spend the winter in tents three quarters of a mile south of Little America because a mean crack had opened up all around us, and we were in serious danger of being swept out to sea. That hazard seems over, or at least postponed, now because everything is frozen up tight, with continuous temperatures of around 30 below zero. It is amazing to me that events which would have been tremendously thrilling and important only six months ago are now just part of the day's work and receive only momentary notice and discussion.

I spent all last week making up trail rations for the southern trek of the dog teams, tractors and planes. This is a very exacting process. Each ration is prepared according to a formula and contains sufficient food for one man for thirty days. It consists of that standby of all polar explorers, pemmican, which is a greasy concentrated meat cake, butter, tea, sugar, malted milk, bacon, cocoa, concentrated soups, powdered milk, peanut butter, salt and pepper. How would you like to live on that diet for thirty days? The rations are weighed out to a fraction of an ounce to eliminate unnecessary weight on the trail. Each party carries a complete medical kit prepared by the doctor.

Here is some great news for teachers in schools and colleges who are interested in following our adventures and scientific accomplishments, with their classes. I have had a talk with Admiral Byrd about our club, which, as you know, was organized at his suggestion to encourage the development of American aviation and to promote interest in exploration. I have told him of the 15,000 people of high school age or over who have already joined it, without any cost whatever, and of the large number of teachers of geography, science, aviation and history, who have enrolled their entire classes. He is greatly pleased over our success and he has asked me to tell you that, through the courtesy of the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, he will send a personal radio message of welcome to every teacher who enrolls a class.

This is very easy to accomplish. It is only necessary to send to the club headquarters the names and addresses of the teacher and pupils with a self-addressed stamped envelope for each. If the teacher desires to give out the membership cards and the beautiful and practical 20% x 2 1/2 inch working map which the club provides each member without charge, a list of the pupils and their addresses should be sent with a 2-cent stamp for each, with a request that cards and maps be sent direct to the teacher, who will receive also a personal radio gram from Admiral Byrd.

All other people desiring to join this unique organization and receive cards and the free map for marking out the Expedition's various flights and exploration journeys, should follow the same procedure—simply send self-addressed stamped envelope, plainly written, to Arthur Abele, Jr., Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y.

PETITIONS ARE IN CIRCULATION AT HIGH SCHOOL

Candidates for Dixon City Offices Announce Selves

By Bradley Moll

The students of the Dixon high school have accepted the gage of battle so to speak, and have begun filing petitions for the various offices that the students are to hold on the one day that the students are to run the city government. No sooner were the petitions handed out, than the students began to make hot rounds of the halls securing the necessary number of names.

The campaigns that give all the color and excitement to a thing of this sort have already been pre-

PABLO, a handsome youth, becomes a fugitive when he flees from New York to Havana with BEAU and LOTTIE, two thieves. Pablo has been accused of a murder he did not commit. MARCIA, TREADWAY, socially prominent, could prove innocent but fears scandal.

Pablo is in love with ESTELLE FIELD, daughter of rich JIM FIELD, in Havana, under the name "Juanito," he becomes celebrated as a boxer and he and Beau open a gymnasium. SIR AUBREY, a titled Englishman and Pablo's father, is searching for his son, employing BILLINGS, New York detective. Three years pass and then Pablo sees Estelle again. He admits their love for each other and arrange secret meetings. BILLINGS, in Havana, suspects Pablo may be the youth he is seeking and cables Sir Aubrey.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER: XXXIII

THE gossip about Juanito and Estelle finally reached Lottie. "I'll spoil her face!" she promised shrilly as she stood, arms akimbo, looking down at Beau who lounged in a deep wicker chair. "It means we'll be kicked out here," Lottie said craftily. That might reach Beau, she thought. "A lot you're worryin' about that!" he commented. "Kid," he said easily, "we got our rake-off. I know how you feel about him, Lottie, but he don't lean your way that's all there is to it. You might as well make up your mind about it. It ain't your fault an' it ain't his."

"I'll kill that girl!" "Now don't talk crazy! You got enough to keep you the rest of your days—with what you can pick up easy. You don't wanta go knifin' anyone."

"Don't I?"

"Ain't have some sense!" he advised again, much tried and showing it.

MARCIA sat by Estelle's bed. The girl had suddenly become ill when she heard Marcia planned to go to the fight at La Miraflores. She had asked Marcia to stay with her. Marcia had stayed, but she had also done some wondering.

She knew that Estelle was only pretending to be sick. Estelle had recently shown little desire for Marcia's company. She had been an irreproachable hostess but Marcia had sensed the fact that Estelle did not like her.

Well, in time she'd find out what it meant, Marcia decided. Meantime—

"Shall I read to you, dear?" she asked.

Estelle said that would be very nice. As Marcia hunted for the book Estelle added, "I hate to think of your going Monday—it is Monday, isn't it?"

Marcia smiled. Quite obviously the child wanted her out of the way.

"I might stop a bit longer," she said with hidden malice. "If someone begged me—very prettily!"

She saw Estelle swallow hard at that. "Now what's up?" Marcia asked herself. "What in the world—?"

JIM FIELD recognized Juanito as Pablo, the boy who had run his boats, but he had no intention of mentioning the fact. He had won heavily on Juanito. "Ted Jeffries was no good anyway," Field thought as he rode home through the darkness, the scents and moving air that make a moonless Cuban night.

No, he would not give Pablo away. But before the passage of an hour he had put a codicil to this decision.

Carlito was in the hall with a letter in his hand as Field entered. Carlito showed his surprise and made the mistake of holding the letter behind him.

"What have you there?" Field demanded.

"Nothing, Sir."

"Let me see it."

"It is—a letter from the sweet heart of one of the servants. I take it to him."

"I said let me see it!"

Carlito answered bravely. "Mr. Field, it is a letter from a lady—"

"Do you want me to knock you down?"

Carlito felt Field's strong, blunt fingers tighten on his arm. A moment and the letter was in those same fingers.

"A letter from one of the servants—addressed to my daughter!" Field sneered as he slit the envelope. He drew forth the folded sheet beginning, "My own dearest," and ending, "Juanito."

Field laughed. "God!" he exclaimed, "this is a find! And I thought she was mild as milk!"

The letter still in his hand, he pounded up the stairs and made his way, without knocking, into his daughter's room. She was in her night things and a negligee, standing by a window. Field smiled on her with that smile he always gave those wholly within his power.

"I have a letter that is directed to you," he said and his sense of strength was increased by her sudden palor.

"How long has this been going on—and just how far has it gone?" he continued.

Estelle did not pretend to misunderstand. Field's keen, sly eyes followed her. He heard her say in the dry, faltering way of those who are badly frightened, "I love him as I never thought I could love anyone—"

"Ah!" he murmured. "Sit down. We must have a little talk."

Trembling, she settled in a low chair and he dropped to one that faced it. She wished, shrinking, that he was not so near. Then he laughed suddenly, elated by the feeling that she was, after all, his daughter. He himself had not been too particular in his gayest years. Here was the same streak in her; the streak that could let her love a prize fighter, a murderer and a thief.

"You little devil!" he commented. "Well, I understand all this but I won't have it! How far has it gone? Where have you been meeting him?"

"Usually at the park and the Cathedral—"

He guffawed. "You'll do better!

next time," he prophesied, "but next time it will be harder, too! I'm going to have you watched. Understand? And—I won't have this! I have other plans for you."

He sat back. "Estelle," he said, "I recognized Juanito tonight. Juanito!"

She lost even more color.

"I'm going to turn him over to the police if you ever see him again. That's all. Otherwise he can go his damned way without any interference from me. Is that clear?"

"But he didn't do it, Father—!"

He smiled and raised his bushy eyebrows. "I don't care whether he did or not. I said I have other plans for you. And I also said that if you see him again I'll turn him over to the police who are still looking for him. Do you understand me?"

"Yes."

"Do you agree?"

"No."

He started, leaning forward.

"Why not?"

"I love him so!"

"Is that all?"

"What else?" she questioned with a little surprise. He relaxed, smiling once more.

"Well," he said slowly, "if you can't give him up I can inform the authorities and let justice take its course. That will mean that your Juanito will go to prison for life—if he's lucky. Otherwise he'll sleep a few nights in the Death House and then—"

He paused to search his pockets for a cigaret case, find it and light a cigaret. "I've always wondered," he went on, "whether the method they use is quite merciful. It sometimes takes three turns of the switch or button—whatever it is—to kill a man. Have a cigaret, child!"

"No."

"The young man's life is in your hands, Estelle. He hasn't a chance if I turn him over to the police, and he couldn't hide again. I shall have him watched until you tell me that I do not need to. It's for you to decide."

She began to speak as he had known she would, to beg his mercy. She was still amazingly young, he thought, as he heard her. Her voice blurred, shook, broke as she repeated her positions.

"All this is interesting," he commented as she paused, breathing hard and shaking. "Interesting but not convincing. If you see him again I'll send him to life imprisonment or death. Have you ever known me to break my word?"

She made no answer.

Field took out his watch. "I shall give you," he said, looking at the watch, "five minutes in which to decide."

He whistled a waltz tune that was being played at the cafes. The girl sat before him, her stricken eyes on his, her tense hands gripping the arms of the chair.

PITCHING WILL BE ABOUT AS IT WAS LAST SEASON

Only a Few Outstanding Changes in Staffs of Big Leagues

(This is the last of a series of three stories summing up the salient changes in major league line-ups, based on latest training camp developments.)

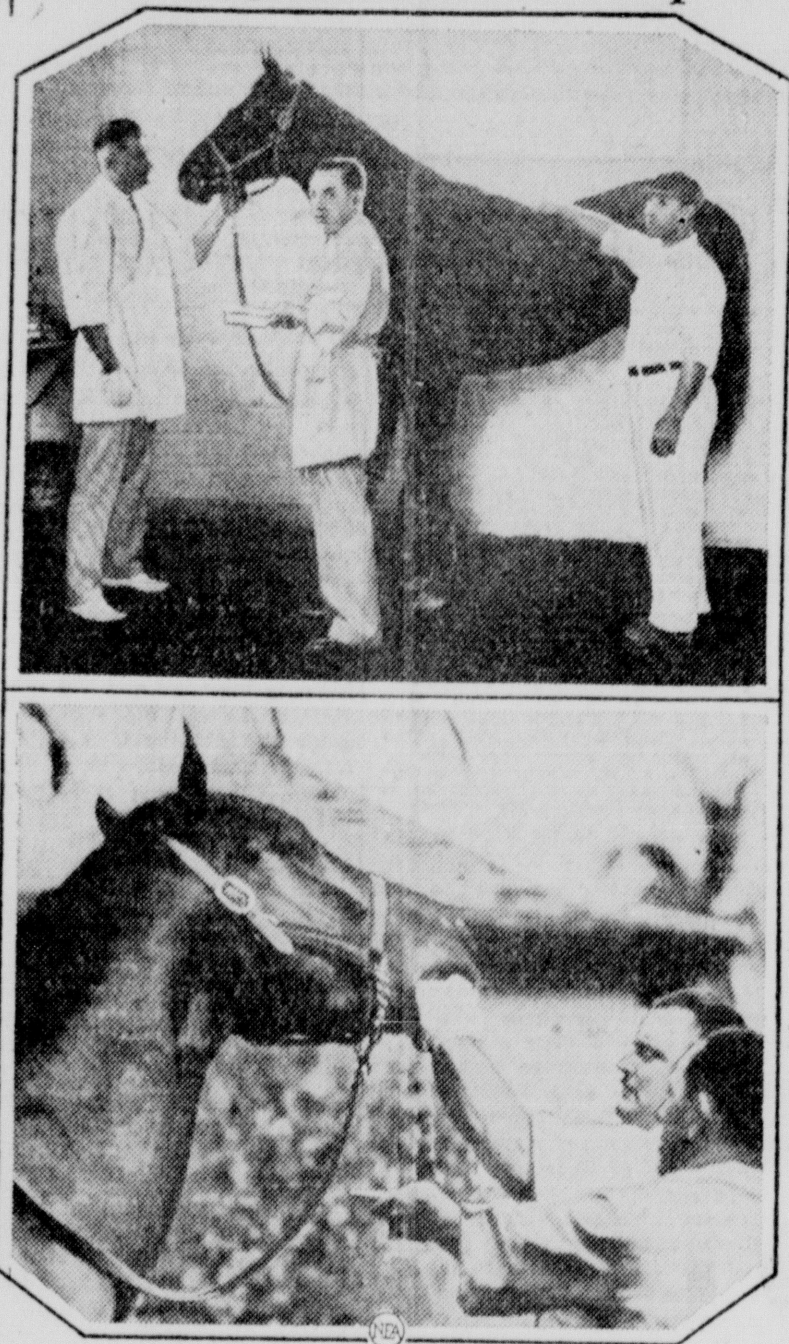

By Edward J. Nell (Associated Press Sports Writer.)

New York, April 7 — (AP)— Although the urge for betterment was greatest where the demand far exceeded the supply pitching talent in the major leagues for 1934 remains about where it was in 1933, except for the breakup of Connie Mack's great staff at Philadelphia and the acquisition of a promising rookie here and there.

The Red Sox, blessed with the affluence of a new owner, Tom Yawkey, bought Bob Grove, and Rube Walberg, and the White Sox purchased George Earnshaw to boost up the Athletics' trio that pitched the A's to the top of the American League in 1929, 1930 and 1931. The benefit of these changes despite the money involved, still is problematical. Grove has the first sore arm of his spectacular career and Earnshaw has been belabored freely this spring.

Have Five Southpaws The Red Sox also signed Herb Pennock after the left handed veteran was released by the Yankees, and bought Fritz Ostermuller from Rochester to round out a staff that with Bob Weiland, a holdover, lists five full-fledged southpaws. George Pipgras, Gordon Rhodes and Henry Johnson,

Testing Horses for Dope

An expert staff of state chemists has been probing doping of race horses in Florida, using the "saliva test" to ascertain whether or not a thoroughbred has been stimulated. Above, Dr. J. C. Catlett, left, and assistants, are shown conducting a saliva test in a laboratory at Hialeah Park. Below, Assistant Chemist Virgil Ashby is holding a saliva tray while Dr. Catlett takes a specimen.

All recruited from the Yankees, comprise the righthanded division. The biggest pitching problem in the American League rests with Connie Mack, now that he has disposed of his stars. He has Johnny Marcum, who broke in well last season, Tim McKithan from Montreal and Harry Matuzak, a graduate of Oklahoma City, to help Roy McHaffey and Sugar Cain, last season's veterans, and Bob Kline, traded from the Red Sox. All are right handers, leaving the A's without an outstanding southpaw for the first time since Rube Waddell's time.

The White Sox are giving Whitlow Wyatt, speed ball right hander from Detroit, another chance, and the Browns are getting results from Jim Weaver, Yankee castoff, and Ivy Paul Andrews, traded from the Red Sox, both right-handers.

Senators Stand Pat The Senators will base their bid to repeat last year's triumph on a veteran staff consisting of Earl Whitehill and Wally Stewart, southpaws, and Monte Weaver, Alvin Crowder and Jack Russell, right handers. The Yankees have been bolstered by the strong spring pitching of Jimmy Deshong, formerly of the Athletics, but will depend chiefly on Red Ruffing, John Allen, Lefty Gomez, Russ Van Atta and Danny MacFayden.

Outstanding shifts in the National League added Red Lucas to the Pirate staff, brought Dick Ward to the Cubs from Los Angeles, Paul Dean brother of Dizzy, to the Cards from Columbus, and Sylvester Johnson and Dazzy

SOLDATI KAYOED BY NEGRO BOXER AT SAINT LOUIS

Princeton Lad Was Put to Sleep in Second Round of Fight

St. Louis, April 7 — (AP)— Eight new champions, one of them an outstanding Negro light heavyweight from Detroit, proudly sport the national amateur boxing crowns today.

Joe Louis, dark-skinned trucker, made the most impressive showing in the two final tests of the AAU championships here last night with a knockout victory over Ario Soldati, Princeton, Ill., 175-pounder, in the second round after flooring Bud Schultknecht of Kansas City three times in their semi-final bout.

The Detroit rubberman, only 19 years old, rarely was touched by opposition leather as he bounded about the ring, awaiting openings for his spearing right hook that found its mark with deadly accuracy.

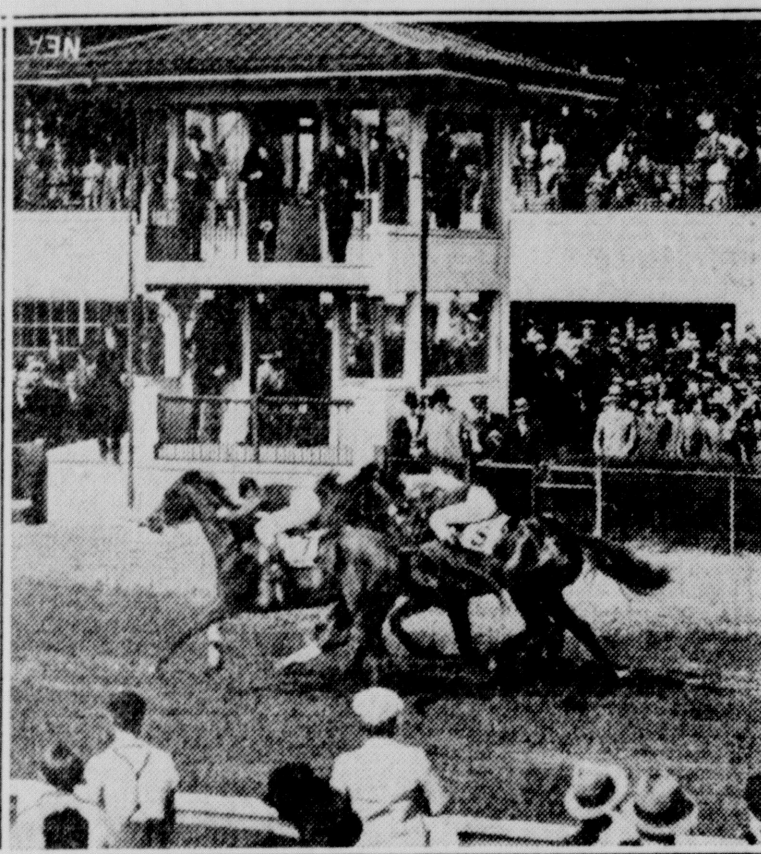

Another Negro Won Another Michigan Negro, Stanley Evans, from Highland Park, won the heavyweight title by out-pointing Irvin Striebel, ponderous man mountain of St. Louis, who outweighed the dusky winner by more than 30 pounds.

The Michigan delegation from Greater Detroit took three titles, the other winner being Edwin Waling 126-pounder from Highland Park, who defeated Ray Sharkey of Cleveland in a close bout.

All the main prizes were shared by the far westerners from San Francisco, and midwesterners, who took the other six. Two Illinois youngsters, both from Springfield won two titles. The other championship went to Youngstown, O.

Two From Springfield Tommy Barry, diminutive coal miner from Springfield, took the flyweight title by giving Manuel Fuste, San Francisco news vendor, a boxing lesson in the lightest class. The other winner from Springfield, Armando Sicilia, an 18-year-old hotel bellhop, shaded

Close Finish at Start of Bowie Season

One of the exciting finishes that more than 10,000 spectators witnessed at the opening of the Eastern racing season at Bowie, Md., is recorded here as In High nosed out Belle Fille and Trillium in the second race. In High, a Miami horse, stepped three quarters of a mile in 1:16.

Jim Mace of San Francisco in the featherweight class.

An aggressive Irishman from San Francisco, Norbert Meehan, a 23-year-old brewery worker, passed his semi-final test with a first round knockout gained with a right to the body over Amsey Rimson, Detroit Negro, and went on to defeat Alfred Schneider, a soldier from Ft. Benning, Ga., flooring him three times in the second round.

Dan Farrer, 19-year-old Youngstown Ohio, welterweight, won his title by shading Dave Clark, Detroit Negro high school boy. The middleweight prize went to Fred Apostoli, a hotel bellhop captain from San Francisco, in a battering victory over Fred Wallmeyer, Richmond, Va.

and the undefeated match-game champion, gets the spotlight at the American Bowling Congress tonight as another collection of individual stars and outstanding teams bring the tournament within two days of the finale.

"Chesty" Joe, who is from New York City and bowls with the American Legion quintet of Ridge-wood, N. Y., has been on the scene two days in advance acting as Falcara's press agent. But despite all Joe's boasting, he has plenty to back up his claims. With bowling authorities to support the opinion, Falcara ranks with the first five rollers of the country, and he may be the first "hot shot" to go places in this tournament.

Besides the American Legion outfit, New York will be represented by three other crack fives, the Congress Aufderheide, Brunswick Red Necks, and Lew Markus' All Stars. Andy Veripapa, as well known as Falcara, and Ray Nolen, are members of the first mentioned team.

Larry Shotwell, the all-time singles champion, with 774 pins will appear with the Ebonite Ball, Covington, Ky.

Not a single change was introduced among the ten leaders yesterday.
